

16th Hole, Par 5

11th Hole, Par 5

From the outset, the Tournament Players Club was destined to be a special course. The culmination of a long-held dream to establish a "home club" for the members of the PGA Tour and a permanent site for THE PLAYERS Championship, the Tournament Players Club at Sawgrass became a reality in 1980.

Located 20 miles southeast of Jacksonville and designed by Pete Dye, the Tournament Players Club at Sawgrass was built for major tournament golf and for a nationwide membership. From the beginning, the design of the course included special amenities for spectators, and its spectacular 18th hole affords elevated viewing areas for more than 40,000 galleryites.

USGA rules govern all play. Waste areas are played as "through the green."
